

The Columbus Organization Slated for Prominent Role at SCAAIDD Annual Conference

Blue Bell, PA, October 12, 2022 – The Columbus Organization, the nation's largest provider of care coordination services for individuals living with intellectual/developmental disabilities (IDD) and complex health concerns, today announced their multi-faceted participation in the upcoming Annual Conference for the American Association on Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities – South Carolina Chapter (SCAAIDD). As a leading case management agency in South Carolina, The Columbus Organization will be a Gold Level sponsor for this important event.

The company's involvement with the conference will include a thought leadership presentation by Tanya Wyant, Ph.D., The Columbus Organization's Care Coordination Vice President for the Northeast Region. She will be offering insight on innovative care coordination approaches and methods for identifying/supporting individuals with complex care needs. Dr. Wyant commented, "The ability to triage and most appropriately support individuals with complex needs is the holy grail in care coordination. It allows us to optimize resources while improving outcomes for all individuals. I am looking forward to sharing the novel approaches we have implemented at The Columbus Organization and exchanging ideas in this diverse forum." Additionally, The Columbus organization will have an exhibit booth where attendees can learn more about the company's unique approach to improve case management outcomes.

The SCAAIDD Annual Conference will take place at The Landmark Resort, Myrtle Beach, South Carolina from October 26-28, 2022. Registration can be found here: <https://scaaid.org/conference/registration.asp>.
